Scattered, Not Missing

The village has information and potential — but it is hard to find and use

A resident

“Who do I even ask about this?”

- Services & requirements
- Announcements & events
- Village data

A buyer outside

“What can I buy from this village?”

- Local products
- Who sells them
- How to order

A partner or researcher

“Where is the data, and can I trust it?”

- Demographics
- Farming & fishery potential
- Facilities & location

The problem is fragmentation, not absence.

Services, data, and products exist — but they are scattered across offices, chats, and word of mouth.
